Justice Burton To Retire From Supreme Court

Ohioan, 70, Named To High Tribunal By Truman In '45

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Supreme Court Justice Harold H. Burton, who wrote one of the court's early anti - segregation decisions, notified President Eisenhower Monday that he will retire from the tribunal after 13 years of service next Monday on the advice of his doctors. Burton, a Republican senator from Ohio before his appointment to the court by Democratic President Truman in 1945, told Eisenhower in a brief note that he would leave the bench "with regret but in accordance with competent medical advice."

70 Years Old June 22

Burton became 70 years old last June 22 and thus reached the permissive retirement age for members of the high court.

The President accepted Burton's retirement with "great regret." He praised Burton for his service on the court at a time when its decisions "are helping to shapeas they have in the past-the destiny of our country.

Judges Set Next Hearing For Oct. 15

Corporation Says Private Classes Will Begin Soon

ST. LOUIS (AP) - A federal court extended Monday the order that prevents a Little Rock group from leasing the city's high schools and operating them as private, segregated institutions.

It scheduled the next hearing on the case for Oct. 15 in St. Louis. Legally, this freezes the situation in Little Rock. The schools remain closed and beyond the reach of the Little Rock Private School Corp. But Dr. T. J. Raney, corporation president, said his group will open private schools as soon as possible, without waiting for the Oct. 15 decision. The corporation is looking for classroom space, teachers, and money.

"We will open as soon as we get things rolling," Raney said. Starting Date Uncertain

Alas! The Price Of Nonconformity

It was quite in order in the Victorian era for Robert Louis Stevenson to praise in verse the joys of life on the open road. There were no welfare states in those days, no armies of officials employed by a paternalistic government distributing largesse as the price of conformity and obedience to regulations.

A man could be a tramp, a wanderer, even an outcast, if he was prepared to pay the price that hunger and the weather demanded. Now it is not so simple.

In an English court the other day a probation officer, obviously puzzled, spoke up for a man charged with vagrancy-that handy net that catches many fish.

"He is indeed a problem-but only to us. He presents no problem to himself. He says that his philosophy is that he doesn't worry about tomorrow. He wants no interference with his life. He is quite happy in his present state and says quite sanely 'why can't one be a tramp if one

Quite obviously, there is something wrong with a man who does not worry about tomorrow! Such an outlook sets him apart from his fellows, makes him different. Most people manage, in spite of the unceasing vigilance of the welfare state, to worry about tomorrow and today as well.

Happiness, sanity, freedom from care, none was enough to justify this man's following his chosen "profession." That he had attained what everyone else is desperately seeking in this life and did not ask for unemployment pay, welfare assistance, health services, the prospects of a pension or any kind of handout was enough to make him, in these days, a freak.

And society does not like freaks, particularly those who have made its fondest dreams come true by making a reality of freedom. The magistrate sent him to jail.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky The Right To Vote

Each year, about this time, the mail fills with poli- country is immensely more prostical circulars, mimeographed letters and other effluia designed to get the citizens to go to the polls to vote for candidates for various offices. The point generally made is that to vote is a duty. Actually, in our system of government, it is a right to be exercised or not to be exercised by freedom of choice.

One of these circulars comes from Sidney Shore, whom I do not know on the stationery of Vernon Pope. whom I also do not know. The thing looks like a personal letter done on an electric typewriter. But close scrutiny indicates that it is a circular from the American Heritage Foundation.

This particular letter has to do with two oblectives; one is to get the citizens to vote; the other is to get them to contribute to campaign funds. The latter objective is designed "to free candidates and office holders from the grip of 'special interests' . . . "-a worthy cause, if accomplished.

The first part of the problem, getting the citizens out to vote, in some instances presents an insurmountable handicap because there is no one to vote for. The guiding principle of many is to accept the lesser of two evils, which is strictly immoral. It is like making a choice between burglary and murder. Those whose consciences permit them to make a choice between the lesser of two evils have an easy time of it.

But what do you do if both candidates are negative human beings, or if one is a bum and the other a crook, or if one is subversive and the other a moron?

The man who is a partisan has no problem. He votes the straight party ticket, come what may. He never deviates from that because his father never did or for other pertinent reasons. But suppose a voter is choosey. Let us say that he will not vote for a divorced man or an alcoholic or an atheist or a bankrupt. Suppose he has prejudices or convictions about such matters. What does he do?

In a day or two, I shall go about finding out who is running for member of the House of Representatives in my district. At present, I do not know. I have not heard. There must be a Republican and a Democrat and I could vote for one or the other without worrying about his name or ability or qualifications on the ground that the party can do no wrong. Such a person can even get pleasure out of voting for a nameless, faceless candidate because that is what the Boss wants and what can give greater pleasure than to please the

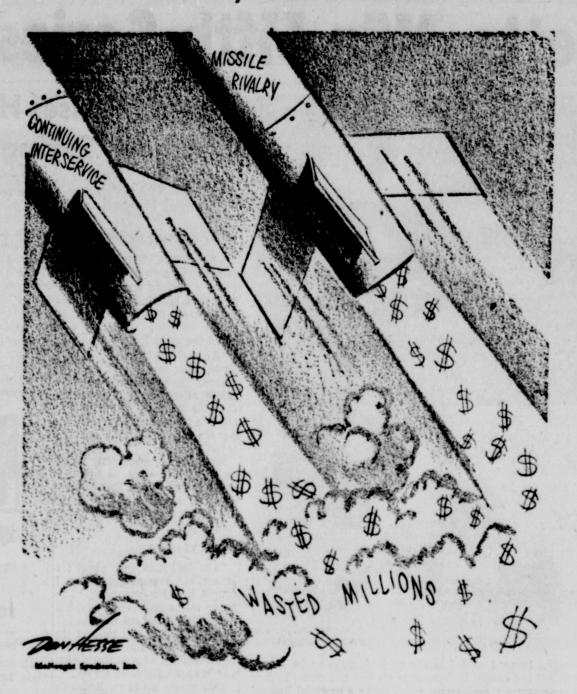

But I cannot vote that way. I need to know something about what I am doing as a citizen. I cannot just vote for Harry McGluck, an ambulance chasing lawyer who needs a job to support his family and who has served the party valiantly for a quarter of a century. Professor Arthur Schlesinger Jr., of Harvard, apparently thinks that if the Democrats and Republicans nominated Ivy League eggheads, it would solve all problems. But that, too, does not mean representative government which requires a variety of persons in Congress.

Whenever matters of conscience are involved, voting becomes difficult under our system of selecting candidates. And yet, what can be done about getting good candidates? I have watched the effort to get decent candidates for half a century and have seen how futile the efforts have been. As a child, I heard about how boss-selected officeholders would be driven out. Then came the direct primaries and they were to solve all problems. They solved no problems. As a matter of fact, it is hard to decide whether public officials today, on average, are better or worse than half a century ago-they look worse.

So boom-boom for voting will not solve the problem of getting good candidates. What we require is someone to vote for. In many states, there is really no one to vote for. If an election is freedom of choice, it ought to be a choice between two men, who, in their own communities, represent some degree of distinction beyond astute public relations or political venality. In many areas, in the present election, that is not The candidates are neither distinguished nor

Virginia School Dispute Creates Political Crisis For Byrd Machine

NORFOLK, Va.-J. Lindsay Almond, gnarled, shrewd, Biblepounding Governor of Virginia, is getting the heat from two sides. From one side, parents with children out of school are demanding that he reopen the schools, that he do something somehow to resume the education of their idle children.

From the other side, the most potent figure in the state, Sen. Harry Flood Byrd, apple-cheeked apple grower and head of the Byrd machine, is pressuring the Governor to continue massive resistance. Byrd's pressure, while unpublicized, is more effective than that of a good many thousand parents. For it was Byrd who made J. Lindsay Almond Governor of Virginia.

So the Governor is between 'he man who made him and the parents who threaten to unmake him. This is why the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot describes the present school crisis as a test of the Byrd machine.

"The powerful Democratic organization must watch," writes George M. Kelley, the Virginian-Pilot's political observer at Rich-"lest it get caught in a power-shattering trap."

Some observers believe the Byrd machine is already caught in that trap. Others disagree. Legislators who voted for massive resistance have been coming to Richmond and admitting to newspapermen confidentially that people in their area are disturped. People never thought the schools would close. They thought Governor Almond and the Byrd organization would be equal to any emergency. Now they see that the organization had no aces up its sleeve. It was playing poker with no cards and with the children of the state as the chips. Cities vs. Counties

Admitted earnest Lt. Governor E. A. Stephens to a newsman the other day: "People throughout the state are suddenly wondering what has hit them. They are wondering what all these bills they passed for massive resistance mean. It seems to mean that the schools are closed, and they never realized this would happen. So massive resistance is being quietly evaluated."

Governor Almond is further caught in a trap between the four big counties of the state and the rural counties. The four big counties embrace Norfolk. Charlottesville, and the Alexandria-Arlington area just across the Potomac River from Washington, D. C. This is where the courts have ordered integration and where a considerable number of white people, though not a majority, are willing to accept it. But the Virginia Legislature is elected primarily by rural communities. As in almost every state in the Union, the farm areas and small towns, not the cities, control. And they are dead against the four counties where integration has been ordered. In 22 counties of southeastern Virginia, the population is more than 50 per cent Negro, and here opposition to integration is vehement, vitriolic and unrelenting. The opposition goes deeper than

Norfolk's Problem

The city of Norfolk, once boasting the worst red-light district along the Atlantic seaboard, is now one of the most progressive cities in the east. Energetic Mayor Fred Duckworth has been pushing civic improvement, is trying to amalgamate all of the thriving cities near the mouth of the Chesapeake. Tunnels and bridges have been built to link Newport News, Old Point Comfort. Warwick and Portsmouth.

The mayor is anxious to get the schools open. He prefers segregation, but will open the schools on an integrated basis if they are returned to Norfolk by the Governor. But he wants the Negro citizens of Norfolk to share in the responsibility for the Community Chest, the Negro Hospital, and welfare.

"Equality can't be legislated," says Mayor Duckworth. "It has to be earned." Norfolk integrated its buses

At that time it could probably have integrated the schools without incident, but not today. Since then passions have increased. and if a vote were taken today 75 per cent of the people probably would vote against integration. Nevertheless, the demand to open the schools somehow or other, integrated or otherwise. is increasing so that something has to happen.

Either the Byrd machine will have to give or the parents of Norfolk will begin getting nasty. "For many, many Norfolk children," comments the Virginian-Pilot, "the outlook is dreary, Among them are boys and girls who, their educational stride once broken, will never regain it. Among them are victims of collapsing college plans long laid. Among them are at least a few who will drift into inoccupation, frustration and delinquency.

"The children unschooled by Virginia's massive resistance laws . . . are the front line witnesses to a cold revolution, and the memory of it will never fade. It will be like the memory of the depression and war. It will press young attitudes into permanent "And in time," writes this Virginia newspaper, "this memory of stupidity will turn the course of what have been known as sacred traditions and what the men in Richmond set about to defend. The designers of massive resistance gambled too heavily. They must lose. Eventually their losses will include the Virginia mind as they knew

Integration Sidelights

The population of Norfolk is 271/2 per cent Negro. In Senator Byrd's area around the Shenandoah Valley, it's only 5 per cent Norfolk officials complain that whereas they have one of only two all-Negro hospitals in the south, they can't get Negro support for it. It's losing $600,-000 a year, a deficit which is 95 per cent paid by white citizens, since the Negro population pays only 5 per cent of the taxes . . . Norfolk pays $13,000,000 a year into the state treasury in taxes, gets back $2.500,000 for its schools. The Almond plan is to withhold this $2,500,000 from the city of Norfolk if Norfolk opens its schools on an integrated basis. In this case, Norfolk citizens are certain to bring suit against the state of Virginia for return of their school taxes. In federal court they would win; in a state court they might lose . . . Chest totaling $1,250,000 officials complain that only $20,000 is contributed by Negroes. Yet, they say, Negroes comprise 80 per cent of the welfare cases,

Allegany High School's Jayvees intercepted two passes and ran them back for the game's only touchdowns yesterday to defeat the Ridgeley High Junior Varsity eleven, 12-0, at Ridgeley.

Both Allegany scores came in the second quarter. Fullback Wayne DeHart snatched a Ridgeley aerial and romped 34 yards for the initial six-pointer and minutes later halfback John Powell pilfered anotheer pass and raced 59 yards for the score. Both attempted kicks for the extra points were blocked by the charging Ridgeley line.

185 yards on the ground to Ridge ley's 95, the bulk of Hawks' yardage being credited to their hardrunning fullback, Harold Long.

Card of Thanks

WE wish to thank, all our neighbors and friends who were so kind to be during our recent bereavement, the death of our wife and mother, Sarah Elizabeth Johnson. We also want to thank Reverend Neel, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

Her Husband, James H. Johnson and Children.

WE wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent, sad be-reavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Raymond Joseph Brown, Sr. We especially wish to thank Father Hobbs and Father Walsh, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and all others who in any manner rendered assistance. 1956 Studebaker Power Hawk V-8 rendered assistance.

In Memoriam

In memory of Robert W. Fleek who passed away 11 years ago today, October 7th. 1947.

Dear Rob you are gone but not forgotten.
Oh, what I would give to hold your hand once more
Which meant so much to me.
And to see your sweet face and happy amiles.

Sadly missed by
Wife and Children

In loving memory of our dear hus-band and father Clinton S. (Pete) Brown who passed away one year ago October 6. 1957. Tears of silence often flow

Memory keeps you ever near us, Though you left us one year ago You are gone but not forgotten And our hearts ache for you still Forgotten perhaps by others But by us you never will Sadly missed by Wife & Children

Officer Shober One Of Victims

Two local hunters were hospitalized as a result of gunshot wounds sustained vesterday as wild turkey and squirrel season opened in Allegany and Garrett

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital was City Police Officer Frank A. Shober, 821 Shade's Lane, who was wounded while hunting on Martin's Mountain.

The hospital said he suffered pellet wounds of the right arm. chest and right side of his body and was reported in "fair" conditien. He was admitted to the hospital about 4:30 p. m.

The other local man, Donald Crowe, 22, of 507 Greenway Avenue, suffered gunshot wounds shortly after the season officially started. He was struck by pellets from a shotgun while hunting on Town Hill Mountain.

He was hit in both arms, chest and legs by pellets and reported in "good" condition last night at Memorial Hospital.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said yesterday was the biggest opening day kill of wild turkeys for Allegany County as 59 hunters reported kills to the six checking points,

Mr. Minke said the squirrel kill vesterday was considered poor in comparison to other years. He said that none of the hunters he saw had bagged the limit of six, although Elmer Robinson of Midland, downed five squirrels and a red fox.

One of the biggest wild turkeys shot yesterday was by William 12 Testify kegg Jr., Columbia Street, who downed a 16-pound tom.
